A supercapacitor"s lifetime spans 10 to 20 years, and the capacity might reduce from 100% to 80% after 10 or so years. Thanks to their low equivalent series resistance (ESR), supercapacitors provide high power density and high load currents to achieve almost instant charge in seconds.

Cylindrical supercapacitors are primarily used in high-power charge-discharge applications such as uninterruptable power supply. Small devices with low-power applications, such as smart meters, memory backup, real-time clocks, wireless sensor devices, and external medical devices, are mainly used as coin-type supercapacitors [43].

The highest energy density in production is 30 Wh/kg. Although supercapacitors have very high power density and capacitance values of thousands of Farads are possible, the cell voltage is limited to about 2.7 V to avoid electrolysis of the electrolyte with the consequent emission of gas and deterioration of the supercapacitor cell.
